Redevelopment plan progresses Exchange Club receives charter

Although Antioch's Main Street is already an enjoyable, prosperous business district, the village's redevelopment commission has plans that would improve many existing problems. Offering off-street parking behind the businesses on the east side of Main Street is part of the redevelopment that will benefit merchants and shoppers. A street connecting Depot and Park Streets will be constructed, giving access to the parking.

These and other desired improvements initiated the ordinance forming the Antioch Village Redevelopment Commission.

"We are experiencing a combination of situations that we (the redevelopment commission) felt needed to be addressed and corrected in the village," said head of the commission, Mike Warren.

"Functionally obsolete" buildings, those buildings in the district that don't serve the purpose in today's market place as they did at the time they were built, is another major problem being addressed by the commission. Many of the buildings are vacant or have deferred maintenance, requiring renovation. Although the buildings need 'updating', the commission wants to maintain the architectural style in the village.

"The commission wants to redevelop while retaining the character of the town," said Warren.

"The people (of Antioch) are used to buildings with character," he added.

The commission also expects to add 70 thousand square feet of additional retail space to the district.

"We are already receiving indications of interest from retailers that would be interested in placing stores in Antioch as a result of the upgrading," Warren said.

Another concern is the presence of undeveloped land in the village. The commission plans to incorporate this land into a planned use to benefit the community, according to Warren.

How is such a large project being funded? "Tax Incremental Funding (TIF) is the vehicle with which we'll use to carry out our operation," said Warren.

A TIF district (where the redevelopment is going to take place), was adopted through a village ordinance. The 1984 assessed value of the district will continue to generate tax revenues. The expected money being put into the district will generate revenues to fund the project. The money will come from varied sources, as the project is progressing, depending on how much and when it's needed. Investment bonds or the village are a few expected sources, according to Warren.

"We're on the edge of an exciting time for Antioch," said Warren.

"We want to see the village moving in an improvement direction," he added.

A starting point is yet within the commissions reach, according to Warren. Because of it being such a large project, there are many problems to be overcome, such as fragmented land ownership behind Main St., before redeveloping can begin.

The Exchange Club of Antioch will receive its charter from the National Exchange Club Jan. 26 at the Country House in Antioch. The Antioch club is one of the newest chapters of a growing national organization of volunteers serving their communities.

Antioch Club president, Wayne Sobczak, a real estate Broker with Realty World-Tiffany, will receive the charter from Gerald L. Topcik, president of the Illinois - So. Wisconsin District. William F. Souza the District president-elect, will present the sponsorship awards to committeemen Richard Sturgeon, entrepreneur in Fox Lake and Waukegan.

The Exchange Clubs of America are chartered throughout the United States and Puerto Rico. There are over 1,300 clubs and 45,000 members who serve their community, state and the nation under the Exchange motto, "Unity for Service." Emphasis is on promoting responsible citizenship, particularly among youth and preserving and strengthening the American way of life.

The Exchange Club of Antioch provides an opportunity for local business and professional men to serve their fellowman through Exchange sponsored projects, as well as exchanging ideas and enjoying good fellowship.

One of Exchange's most challenging and worthwhile projects is the National Exchange Club Foundation for the Prevention of Child Abuse. The Exchange Clubs of America are also involved in many other diverse programs of community service, including Crime Prevention, The Freedom Shrine, Youth of the Month, "One Nation Under God," Proudly We Hail, and The Book of Golden Deeds.

Other Officers of the Antioch Club are: William E. Brook, Chairman of the Board of the State Bank of Antioch, president-elect; Paul T. Pavelski, president of the Northern States Trust Co., secretary; Louis Korom, III, cashier and vice president of the First National Bank of Antioch, treasurer. Members of the Board of Directors are Dennis G. Dempsey of Century Oak Cabinets, Robert Leavitt of Antioch True Value, Stephen D. Smouse of Strang Funeral Home, William E. Petty, Attorney at Law, Andrew J. Dziki of Realty World-Tiffany and David Bushing of Foremost Liquors.

The acquisitions committee has continued to receive donations during the winter. Additions have been made to the war, costume and world's fair collections.

The membership committee has been at work on adding to the membership rolls. Anyone interested in becoming a life member should send the $100 contribution soon. The goal of 100 life members is drawing close.

Garage fire melts cars

A fire, on Astor, destroyed a garage and melted the two automobiles and snowmobile which were parked inside.

"What's left of the roof is laying on top of what's left of the cars," said Lee Sarmont. He and his father Richard reside at the home in Antioch.

The fire began at 2 a.m. Wednesday. According to officials, they are leaning toward an electrical start to the fire. Cost due to damages has not yet been determined.

Sarmont is not quite sure what he will do for transportation. "I didn't go to work at all today," he said.

"I just called and told them my car melted," he added.

Progressive Action Party files for election

The Progressive Action Party of the Village of Antioch has filed for the April 2 election. Incumbents Mayor Raymond Toft, Clerk Marilyn Sterbenz, and Trustees, Ronald Cunningham, Vern Barnstable and Rodney White will run on the party's ticket.

Mabel Lou Weber, who has served on the village board for three years and Henry Gillman are the only two filed to run against Toft in this election.

Claudette Skavarce, who defeated Weber for a board seat in 1981, is the only person thus filed to run for trustee.

Toft has served as Mayor three terms, from 1965-1973 and from 1981-present. Sterbenz will be running for her fifth four-year term; Cunningham his fourth; Barnstable his fifth and White his second.

Stage review

Andre's comedy sends audience home smiling

by GLORIA DAVIS

The opening night audience of "Murder At The Holiday Inn," at Andres Dinner Theater, found the satirical farce a very funny one.

This type of comedy, made popular by movies like "Airplane," takes the very special talent of perfect timing if the actors are to pull it off.

That special timing could prove to be the difference between a clever satire and a lot of ridiculous slap stick.

The plot involves a wife and her lover planning to murder her husband at a Holiday Inn—and failing.

This is followed by the same husband and wife planning to make the unfaithful lover commit suicide by jumping from a window in the Holiday Inn. This plan also bombs.

Then both men get together and decide to solve all their problems by hanging the flirtatious wife, you guessed it, at the Holiday Inn. This plan is also a flop and the audience is led to believe the husband and wife are getting back together but her fickle heart wins out in the end.

Members of Andre's new production company, Fantasia Productions, with Ron Ferraro producing and directing, bring the comedy to the dinner theater's stage.

Virginis Zymonas, who plays the wife who loves musical beds, one who is very nice to look at, decided that the bubble headed wife would best be played in the Judy Holiday style. This she plays to the hilt.

Will Tremont does an adequate job of playing her rather spacey lover, as does Mike Dice who convinces the audience he is really as dumb as the stupid husband he portrays.

The farce is a light frothy second dessert (a fruit tart coming with Andre's delicious dinner,) one that sent the opening night audience home with a smile on their face.

Other upcoming plays on Andre's menu include "Bullshot Crummond," "Suitehearts," and "Glitz, Glamour And Glitter."

Accident caused by wind gusts kills Antioch man

A collision involving three cars on Rte. 14, five miles west of Delavan, claimed the life of Roger Franz, 43 of Antioch last Monday.

According to the report, a van driven by Ingrid Larson, 47 of Delavan, went into the eastbound lane due to heavy gusts of wind, striking Franz's car. A car driven by Vicki A. Rodenberg, 30, of Janesville, was following the van, when she then struck Franz's car on the left side. Rodenberg suffered a broken nose.

Officer Clayton Hansen of the Walworth County Sheriff's Dept. said Franz was driving a car "taken without permission" from the National Car Rental Co. of Muskegon, Mich.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Strang Funeral Home in Antioch.

Fire destroys work area

A fire at 43243 Deep Lake Road, destroyed a four-car garage owned by Tom and Willie Dyson Jan. 15. The fire did considerable damage to a tractor and work-area inside the garage.

According to fire officials the fire started at 11 a.m. in an area around a work bench where welding equipment was kept. It was under control by noon.

The Antioch Fire Dept. brought in two tankers and an equipment van and was assisted by the Trevor Fire

Dept. which provided an extra tanker.

The cause of the fire has yet to be determined.

Chamber keeps up momentum in '85

The Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry is looking to continue with the same momentum it built up in 1984 as they start planning for this year's activities.

Maxwell Street Days (sidewalk sales) and an Easter Parade are two projects already being looked into.

Aside from the projects, the chamber is seeking a new office which will make it easier for them to be of service to residents and out-towners.

The chamber is seeking to "increase visibility (the chamber's) through public relations and newsletters, to let people know we're here," said chamber president Jeff Mulder.

"We are an organization devoted to the economic and civic welfare of the community," he added.

"We want to put 'the word' out that Antioch is a nice place to live and work," said Mulder.

"The chamber is the PR in a community to help everyone," said Vince Giorgi. Giorgi does advertising for the chamber.

It is an organization that can give advice to residents and new-comers, said Giorgi.

"We want to make the chamber what it is, a tool for the entire community to use," he added.

The chamber will also play an active roll in helping the redevelopment commission by looking to fill the empty buildings in town with new businesses.

The chamber welcomes any interested resident to join them. If interested contact Mulder at 291-9121.

State Bank promotes four

Randy S. Miles, chief executive officer of State Bank of Antioch, has announced on behalf of the bank's board of directors, the promotions of Carolyn Blanchette to trust officer, Rob Jenkins, vice president, Mortgage Lending, Ken Wermeling, assistant vice president, Installment, and John Burnett, assistant vice president, Commercial Lending.

Blanchette joined the State Bank in 1972 as executive secretary whose customer service activities extended to major investments, purchase and sale of government and corporate securities, stocks and bonds, school trust accounts and bank new accounts. Promoted to assistant cashier in 1977, she began her trust specialization as assistant trust officer in 1981 after the bank was granted full trust powers.

After graduation from Fenger High School, Chicago, Blanchette attended Valparaiso University, Ind., as well as Chicago City College and DePaul University for business and accounting courses. She recently completed the National Trust School at Northwestern University and is currently working on a two-year graduate program with the National Graduate Trust School for full certification as a financial advisor.

Jenkins came into the State Bank mortgage lending department in March, 1974 as assistant vice president, with five years' experience as vice president with Home Federal Savings and Loan Association of Waukegan, also having served as vice president and branch manager of their Lindenhurst facility. His financial career began in 1973 as branch manager with America's Finance Management Corporation of Silver Spring, Maryland.

He is a graduate of Antioch Community High School, having participated in the Distributive Education Program for Business Development and Management. He completed numerous courses with the Institute of Financial Education.

Wermeling joined the State Bank staff in 1978 and later in the same year became Collection Manager. He was promoted to Installment Loan Officer February of 1981.

Wermeling is a graduate of Mary D. Bradford High School, Kenosha, and attended Gateway Technical Institute and the University of Wisconsin at Parkside. He has also attended the American Institute of Banking for bank related courses.

Prior to coming to the State Bank, Wermeling was employed by Associates Financial Services for three years and served as branch manager for Local Loan Co. for two years.

Burnett worked with the bank's commercial lending staff for one year before his promotion to commercial lending officer.

He is a 1977 graduate of Antioch Community High School who began his banking career as a student under the school's distributive education retail work-study program in 1975. As a part-time State Bank employee in the program, he worked as installment loan collector, new account-customer service representative and bookkeeping-central file clerk.

He earned an associate of science degree from College of Lake County in 1979, a certificate in Foundation of Banking from the American Institute of Banking in 1979, and his bachelor of science in accountancy from Northern Illinois University-Dekalb in 1981.

He completed the Association of Modern Banking Commercial Lending School at the University of Illinois in November, 1982 and received his masters degree in business administration and finance from Loyola University, Chicago, in May, 1984.

Men's store pleases different tastes

By LEE ANN MACKULIN

When you first walk into B. J's Fashions for Men, you might think they offer only the dressy, more professional clothes. Turn the corner, however, and you're likely to find your favorite jeans...yet another corner and you can browse at the latest sporting equipment and athletic wear.

"What we tried to do is create a mini-department store," said Bill Patterson, owner of the store on Main Street.

"We tried to change the atmosphere of each department," he added.

Patterson doesn't fool around when it comes to atmosphere. He geared the music and decor of each room to match with the merchandise sold there.

By doing this, Patterson attracts different age groups, people from different levels of the buying market.

Patterson feels the shopping malls and outlet stores have taken away some of Main Street shoppers. Being able to shop in doors is one of the main reasons he feels people are attracted to the malls. "We do lose some business to malls, said Patterson.

"Downtowns get old and sometimes lose their fascination," he added.

Loss of fascination for Antioch's downtown is due, for the most part, to a lack of parking and deteriorating buildings. Patterson feels the redevelopment commission (which will, eventually, build off-street parking and renovate buildings), is definitely headed in the right direction with their plans.

If shoppers go downtown, however, Patterson feels they are bound to get more personalized service...helping them pick out just the right color or style to suit them.

Looking ahead to 1985, Patterson looks to better the image of his store, to try and accommodate even more clothing 'tastes'.

Washington Rally

"Balance the federal budget" will be the rallying cry as representatives from five major general farm and commodity organizations descend upon Washington, D.C. in late January to participate in the "Balanced Budget Brigade" Washington Rally. The rally will take place Jan. 29-30, 1985 on Capitol Hill and the Capitol Holiday Inn.

"U.S. soybean farmers and their counterparts in other commodities have too long suffered the effects of government deficit spending," said American Soybean Association (ASA) President Roger Asendorf, a St. James, MN soybean farmer. "The biggest side effects of an out-of-whack budget are high real interest rates and a high-valued U.S. dollar. High interest rates have greatly increased farm production costs while the high dollar has significantly reduced exports and lowered farm prices. Together, they've cut farm profit opportunities."

Formed in September of last year, the "Balanced Budget Brigade" includes the Soybean Association, the American Farm Bureau Federation and 15 state affiliated farm bureaus, the National Corn Growers Association, the National Farmers Organization and the National Grange. Affiliated "Brigade" members include Country Companies Insurance, GROWMARK, Inc. and the Illinois Home Builders Association.

Asendorf said the purpose of the "Balanced Budget Brigade" is to call attention to members of Congress and the Reagan Administration of the immediate need to balance the federal budget. This, in turn, would go a long way towards lowering interest rates and bringing the U.S. dollar more in line with the value of foreign currencies. Lowering comparative value of the U.S. dollar would allow U.S. agricultural products, including soybeans, to be more competitive on the world market, Asendorf said.

To launch the Washington, D.C. rally, the farmer leaders of the "Balanced Budget Brigade" will conduct a news conference at the National Press Club, beginning at 10 a.m. EST, on Tuesday, Jan. 29. ASA affiliated state association presidents, as well as national and state farmer representatives of the other "brigade" member organizations, will attend a "rally luncheon" to be keynoted by USDA Secretary John Block at the Capitol Holiday Inn. The remainder of Tuesday will be spent visiting influential members of the Reagan Administration and Congress who will be heavily involved in the upcoming budgetary debates. On Wednesday, Jan. 30, rally participants will attend a breakfast session followed by individual visits to their respective members of Congress.

Since this past summer, the "Balanced Budget Brigade" has asked U.S. farmers to send cards to "brigade" headquarters in Washington, D.C. to voice their concern over the federal budget deficit. Several prominent farm periodicals, such as Farm Journal, Kansas Farmer, Michigan Farmer, Missouri Ruralist, The Ohio Farmer, Pennsylvania Farmer and the Soybean Digest, distributed cards free of charge. These cards, denoting the agricultural community's desire for immediate action, will be symbolically delivered during the Washington rally.

Agency provides winter storm tips

With winter weather upon us, the Federal Emergency Management Agency has issued safety tips for winter storms.

The agency states that the first line of protection is to be aware of the winter conditions in the surrounding area through newspapers, television and radio.

A few hours of warning of a storm can be the key to avoiding being caught in it, or at least to be better prepared to cope with the storm.

Many people are not aware of what exactly the common weather terms mean. A heavy snow fall warning usually means an expected snowfall of four inches or more in a twelve-hour period.

A warning for a blizzard is the most dangerous of all warnings. A blizzard combines cold air, heavy snow and strong winds that blow the snow about and may reduce visibility to only a few yards. This type of warning is only issued when the weather service expects considerable snow and winds of 35 miles per hour or more. A severe blizzard warning means that very heavy snowfall is expected as well as winds up to 45 miles per hour and temperatures of 10 degrees or lower.

Freezing rain or freezing drizzle is forecast when expected rain is likely to freeze as soon as it hits the ground, putting a coat of ice on the roads and other exposed objects.

Sleet is small particles of ice. Enough sleet accumulated on the ground can make the roads very slippery and dangerous.

For safety in the home the agency states that people should be prepared for home isolation for a week or two.

—An adequate supply of heating fuel should be kept on hand as well as emergency heating equipment such as a camp stove.

—An emergency stock of food and water should be kept. Some of this food should be the type that doesn't need refrigeration or cooking.

—A battery powered radio and extra batteries should be kept on hand so that if the electricity is cut off, weather and emergency information could still be received.

For safety while traveling the agency stresses that no one should travel during the storm unless it is absolutely necessary. If travel is necessary, several precautions should be taken.

—Make sure the car is in good condition, always properly serviced and equipped with chains or snow tires.

—Take another person with you if possible.

—Maintain a full tank of gas.

—Have emergency winter supplies such as a container of sand, shovel windshield scraper, tow rope or chain, flashlight and blankets or sleeping bags.

—Travel by daylight and use major highways. Keep the radio on for emergency information and advice.

Lions club inducts new president

Although the Antioch Lions Club is in its 48th year, it's still willing to look in new directions. At the installation meeting, Jan. 14, the club inducted its youngest president ever, 29-year-old Laddie Korecek, part owner of Johnson Jewelers.

Being head of the largest Lion's Club in the district (129 men), will be eventful but exciting for Korecek. He looks ahead to a progressive and productive year.

"I fully respect all of your support in turning our club back to the status it had in the past," said Korecek to his fellow club members.

To signify Korecek being the youngest president in the club's history, he was awarded a rattle, as his gavel, a bottle of Dad's Rootbeer, with a nipple on it and a blow-up Lion's doll, all of which he accepted in the best of humor.

Korecek received a B.S. in Business Management and a B.S. in Economics from Elmhurst College in Elmhurst Ill. He is also an active member of the Rotary Club and the Antioch Chamber of Commerce. Korecek is chairman of the financial committee for the Antioch Redevelopment Commission and was also awarded a distinguished service award by the Jaycees.

The Lions Club is the nation's largest service organization, known for helping the blind and hearing impaired.

Antioch currency exchange opens

For the convenience of Antioch residents, to benefit the area businesses and to the delight of out-of-towners, an Antioch Currency Exchange Store opened in December at 500 Orchard St., in the Antioch Shopping Plaza.

The exchange service will benefit residents and visitors of Antioch in various ways: Any payroll or personal checks may be cashed (with proper identification); it offers license plate renewal and transfer of a license; photocopies may be made there; utility bills can be paid and money orders received.

"Our money orders are cheaper, said exchange employee Terry Miller.

"We charge different rates for different amounts of a money order, making it cheaper than banks", she added.

The exchange may also benefit area merchants, as shoppers will have access to check cashing after banking hours.

"We're a convenience for people when the banks are closed," said Miller.

The exchange is open until 6 p.m.

Ice Race

The Lambs will host the 3rd Annual Yamaha AMA Two Wheeler Amateur Ice Race National Championship on Jan. 26 and 27, and the AATYA Three Wheeler racing on Feb. 2 and 3, at Rt. 176 and I-94 in Libertyville.

Sequoits even record with weekend split

After a disappointing loss on Jan. 18, the Antioch boys cagers came back to beat Stevenson by 18 points on Jan. 19.

The weekend split puts the Sequoits at 4-4 in conference and 6-9 overall. Warren improved to 5-3 in the North Suburban Conference and Stevenson went to 3-5.

Antioch Head Coach Don Zeman said his team was "extremely flat" during a 64-39 loss to Warren on Jan. 18. After getting behind 30-10 late in the second quarter, Zeman knew his Sequoits were in trouble.

"We like to be patient on offense," Zeman said. "After we got behind we had to put the ball up much quicker than we like."

After scoring only three points in the second quarter, Zeman simply tried to get back to running a basic offense to whittle away at the Warren lead.

But Warren and their 37-13 halftime lead was too much for the Sequoits to overcome. Antioch had been shooting close to 50 percent from the field recently according to Zeman, but only managed to make 39 percent against the Blue Devils.

Antioch's inside game was taken away by Warren and Chris Zeien's 16 points was not enough to put the Sequoits back in the game. Besides Zeien, no one scored more than five points for Antioch.

The Stevenson game went much better for the Sequoits as they built up a 10-point lead after three quarters of play and did not let go. Antioch outscored the Patriots 24-16 in the last period to wrap it up for a 73-55 victory.

"It was a tougher game than the score would indicate," Zeman said. "Our lead was slowly, slowly building, but we still had the feeling that if we let up, they would come right back in the game."

Part of the credit for the victory should go to a man-to-man defense that Antioch put on the Patriots: They outscored their opponent every quarter, allowing only nine points in the third period.

The offensive credit went to Zeien who played another fine game, this time scoring 15 points. Don Gunther led Antioch with 27 points, Dave Hart put in 13 and Joe Keim added 11.

Zeman called the two upcoming games important ones. Antioch must try to get by conference leader Niles North on Jan. 25 and faces Mundelein on Jan. 26. Niles North is unbeaten in conference play with a record of 8-0 and Mundelein stands at 5-3 in the conference.

PM&L set to sail 'On Golden Pond'

P.M. & L. Theatre's upcoming production of "On Golden Pond" is being readied by a solid gold crew. Audiences generally see and hear the efforts of the cast and the play's author, but pay less attention to the work of the equally important crew.

"On Golden Pond" will be stage managed by the award-winning Elmarie Beno. Assisting her with the chores of running the show during the performances are Aileen Biel (also an award-winning stage manager as well as actress) and Debbie Beno.

The set was designed by Tom Hausman who won the award for best set of Season 23, "The Labors Of Love." But no set design is any good without the efforts of a talented set construction crew to bring that design to reality.

Heading the crew is the able and experienced Bill Baum. Assisting him are Rick Diaz, Mark Heller, and Hausman.

The show's lighting will be handled by Mark Badtke (who won the award at P.M. & L. last season for production support) and Vicki Tolash.

The terrific posters were designed by Regina Lightfoot and the publicity is being handled by Kathryn Hausman and Reggie Reynolds.

George Cina will be handling some special effects chores that will add to the play's professionalism. Diaz will make sure that the audience's comforts are as golden as the performance on stage in his capacity of housekeeper.

"On Golden Pond" by Tony Award winner Ernest

Thompson will be presented Feb. 8, 9, 15, 16, 22 and 23, at 8:30 p.m., and Feb. 17, at 2:30 p.m. at the theatre located at 877 Main St. in Antioch.

Reservations can be made by calling (312) 395-3055. Dinner-theatre packages are available with the Village Pub and with Struggles, both located in Antioch.
